Location & surrounding area:

Port d'Andratx is one of Mallorca's most famous natural harbors. The once very small fishing village has developed over the years into one of the most exclusive and popular places on the island thanks to its extraordinary villas, luxury hotels and nautical activities. The upscale gastronomy has also taken advantage of this and you will find all the delicacies your heart desires in the numerous restaurants.

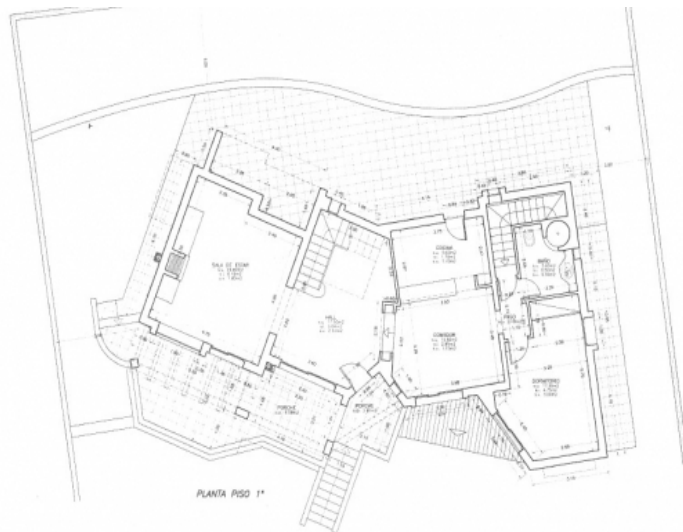

When Port d'Andratx is not captivating with its bars, boutiques and restaurants, it is definitely worth taking a trip into the beautiful natural surroundings. The nearby bays, such as Cala Llamp, Cala Moragues or Cala d'Egos, offer pure relaxation. However, the fishing culture of the harbor has by no means been displaced; it is virtually alive and well. This is why the fish market is located on the pier, where the daily fresh catch is sold. There are also a number of monuments of great historical and architectural interest in the port, such as Sant Carles on la Mola or the defensive towers. The unforgettable sunsets and the special flair that make this place so unique can be best enjoyed at the end of the day with a nice glass of wine at the harbor.
